PREVENT COSTLY REPLACEMENT REPAIR THESE TYPICAL WINDSHIELD BREAKS

A EGI'S LAMINATED GLASS REPAIR

BULLSEYE

This is the type of break most often caused by a flying stone. At the point of impact there is a tiny pit. Behind it, a conical crack from 1/2 to 1" in diameter penetrate to the plastic inner layer.

3. A STAR BULLSEYE

Sometimes, where there are local stresses in the glass, a star break occurs with radial cracks emanating from the point of impact. Early repair will prevent the radial crack from spreading.

PARTIAL BULLSEYE

When a stone produces an incomplete conical crack, the result is a partial bullseye.

4. COMBINATION BREAK

Frequently a bullseye will also have radial cracks. This type is a Combination Break. Early repair will prevent the radial cracks from spreading.

promoted as the former Mountain Champion and one of the stars of the hit movie (Revenge of the Ninja), Gatorwolf will fight in the feature attraction in the indian match against the ranger who is an inch taller than Gatorwolf and 25 pounds lighter. The Ranger is a former martial arts instructor for the special forces. Gatorwolf said was discharged due to reports of unnecessary roughness.

The Ranger was quoted as saying, "I'm too rough for wrestling too, and Gatorwolf knows it! I'm the champion and I should wrestle Hogan not that half breed Gatorwolf! I'll prove it to you people Friday night. I'll defeat Gatorwolf again."

Gatorwolf recently lost the Rocky Mountain Championship Title to the Ranger in Heber, Utah. Gatorwolf said the
